

Students must complete MAN 345 by selecting from the following courses. All courses have the minimum prerequisites of 52 credits completed and the completion of BASE 2104; some courses have additional prerequisites.

- MAN 345
Offered in fall and spring. Provides opportunity to learn about and practice skills required of all managers: leadership, negotiation, performance appraisals, delegation, communication, interviewing and making hiring decisions, and managing employees with problem behaviors. Emphasizes experiential learning through group work, role-plays, and case analysis.
- MAN 345
Offered in fall and spring. Techniques used by current business leaders and seminal leadership scholars to prepare students to handle various leadership situations will be explored.
- MAN 345

best-practices in sustainability reporting and performance to specific business problems. Companies increasingly recognize the critical need for employees with the knowledge and skills to utilize ESG reporting tools that serve to improve the company's sustainable management practices and/or sustainability reporting.

- B33L$7MNM$

