

Paper: You will write an informed paper on a macroeconomic concept or model that we have addressed in this class. The paper will be; 2-3 pages single spaced, 1 inch margins, a valid works cited page, and font of times new roman size 12. Should you deviate from any of the aforementioned criteria in any direction I will NOT grade your paper and you will receive a 0. A rough draft will be due prior to the final draft, check below for the due dates. Your rough draft will be; 4-6 pages double spaced, with the same margins and font restrictions as above. Similarly, if you do not adhere to these guidelines for the rough draft you will not receive feedback and you will receive a 0. The rough draft of the paper is worth 1 of the 5 percentage points that the entire paper is worth. I strongly encourage you schedule some time to come and talk to me about your topic well before the rough draft is due. Failure to properly cite other's work will result in a 0 in the course at the very least.

Exams: I will not give makeup exams, except in extraordinary situation. For exam dates please see below. These dates may be changed as I have planned my exams based on material covered. Further, though exams will not be intentionally comprehensive the material is inherently comprehensive and so the exams will be to that extent.

Homework: You will be given homework most Fridays, and it will be due a week from the assignment date on the following Friday by 5:00pm. I strongly encourage that you finish the homework by class time on Friday. I will not accept late assignments! With this in mind, I am aware that life happens, so your lowest grade on the homework assignments will be dropped.

Final Exam: The final exam for this class will be Sunday, May 1, 2016 from 4:30-7:00. You may reschedule exams if you have 3 or more on the same day. This must be done SOON! Further, there are only two exam times on May 1, so I do not anticipate any problems. Important: The reason why the final says 25/40% is because it will replace your lowest exam score provided it is better than your lowest exam score. The Final is COMPREHENSIVE!

Participation: This portion will be made up from attendance, class participation, class work, and any other in class material or assignments.

Honor Code: All students of the University of Colorado at Boulder are responsible for knowing and adhering to the academic integrity policy of this institution. Violations of this policy may include: cheating, plagiarism, aid of academic dishonesty, fabrication, lying, bribery, and threatening behavior. All incidents of academic misconduct shall be reported to the Honor Code Council (honor@colorado.edu; 303-735-2273). Students who are found to be in violation of the academic integrity policy will be subject to both academic sanctions from the faculty member and non-academic sanctions (including but not limited to university probation, suspension, or expulsion). Other information on the Honor Code can be found at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/honor.html> and at <http://www.colorado.edu/academics/honorcode/>.

Discrimination and Harassment: The University of Colorado at Boulder Discrimination and Harassment Policy and Procedures, the University of Colorado Sexual Harassment Policy and Procedures, and the University of Colorado Conflict of Interest in Cases of Amorous Relationships Policy apply to all students, staff, and faculty. Any student, staff, or faculty member who believes s/he has been the subject of sexual harassment or discrimination or harassment based upon race, color, national origin, sex, pregnancy, age, disability, creed, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression or veteran status should contact the Office of Discrimination and Harassment (ODH) at 303-492-2127, or the Office of Student Conduct (OSC) at 303-492-5550. Information about the ODH, the above referenced policies, and the campus resources available to assist individuals regarding discrimination or harassment can be obtained at <http://www.colorado.edu/odh>. Classroom Behavior Policy Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Those who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Professional courtesy and sensitivity are especially important with respect to individuals and topics dealing with differences of race, color, culture, religion, creed, politics, veterans status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, and gender expression, age, disability, and nationalities. Class rosters are provided to the instructor with the students legal name. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the semester so that I may make appropriate changes to my records. See policies at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/classbehavior.html> and at <http://www.colorado.edu/studentaffairs/judicialaffairs/code.html#studentcode>.

Students with Disabilities If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit to me a letter from Disability Services in a timely manner so that your needs be addressed. Disability Services determines accommodations based on documented disabilities. Contact: 303-492-8671, Center for Community N200, and <http://www.colorado.edu/disabilityservices>. If you have a temporary medical condition or injury, see guidelines at <http://www.colorado.edu/disabilityservices/go.cgi?select=> Disability Services letters for students with disabilities indicate legally mandated reasonable accommodations. The syllabus statements and answers to Frequently Asked Questions can be found at <http://www.colorado.edu/disabilityservices>.

Religious Observance Policy Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to deal reasonably and fairly with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments or required attendance. If you have a conflict, please contact me at the beginning of the term so that we can make proper arrangements. See full details at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/facrelig.htm>
