

ECON 3070-002
Intermediate Microeconomics
Spring 2010

Instructor: Lauren Calimeris
Office: ECON 304
Office Hours:

The models and material covered in this course require basic calculus. It will be assumed that every student has a working knowledge of calculus, and there will be no formal review of calculus techniques. As such, the mathematics prerequisites will be strictly enforced.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The course will take the form of lectures, readings, assignments and exams. This course is lecture-based, and material for the exams and assignments will follow from topics covered during the lecture. Lectures will follow the readings in terms of the material covered. It is imperative that you read the book chapters on your own, as there will be material covered in the readings that is not covered in lecture. Likewise, I highly recommend you attend all classes, as there will be material covered in lecture that may not be discussed in the readings. Given the importance of class attendance, daily attendance will be taken.

PROBLEM SETS

Problem sets are a very important aspect in this course and are your best way of preparing and studying for the exams. I strongly encourage you to work together. If you do work with other people, you must pass in your own copy of the problem set. If you use more than one piece of paper, please staple all your sheets together in order.

In general, problem sets will be posted on the course website on Thursdays or Fridays and will be due in class at the start of class the following Thursday. The solutions will be posted on the website shortly thereafter. I will try to announce when problem sets are posted in class. The due dates will be on the problem sets. No problem sets may be passed in late. You will not receive credit for late assignments. You may, however, miss one assignment, as your lowest problem set grade will be dropped.

EXAMS

There are NO MAKE UP EXAMS and NO EXAMS WILL BE GIVEN EARLY. Each exam will be composed of two sections: a multiple choice section and a short answer section. Therefore, you should bring a pencil and a non-graphing calculator to the exam (a ruler is also recommended).

OTHER INFORMATION

I will post problem sets on the website, along with any other pertinent information. I will try to announce when I have made a new posting in lecture; however, you should also check the website for new material, especially as exams approach. I will not answer any questions for which the answers are available on this syllabus.
